INTRODUCTION

In September 2021, a national census of population and housing was conducted in the Republic of the Marshall Islands (RMI). The Marshall Islands Census of Population and Dwellings is conducted by the country's statistics agency, the Economic, Planning, Policy and Statistics Office (EPPSO). It provides an official count of people, along with demographic and socioeconomic information at the atoll/island and community level. It is the 12th census of population to be undertaken after the first census enumeration was undertaken in the Republic of the Marshall Islands in 1920.

The census supports EPPSO's mission of "serving as an economic advisor to the Government of the Republic of the Marshall Islands".

The Marshall Islands decennial Census of Population and Housing is central to decisions in all areas of society and government decision making. It is designed to take an inventory of the total population and housing units in the RMI and to collect information about their characteristics and is the basis of population estimates; it provides insight into the wellbeing and needs of communities throughout the Marshallese society.
